Skinny Skribbles

Around And About Town

With C. F. SKIRVIN

School days, school days, dear old golden rule days, and every thing else that goes with school. Fall term opened officially this a. m. The law says you better attend, or some fellow who looks after absentees will be asking you why. My absentee record was brief, because the experience suggested a discountance of the habit. Playing "hookie" brought home an inquiry from the school teacher instead of the bacon. It didn't seem to be so important as to how much you were able to learn. It was important that you be there to get the instruction. The expense was charged to the taxpayer and he was getting cheated if you failed to take advantage of the opportunity for an education. You cheated yourself. Make the most of your school opportunities, so you won't have anything to regret later on.

Los Angeles is shipping pepper trees to San Francisco. Another hot cargo.

Theme song in one of the San Francisco department stores runs something like this: "Hale, Hale, the Gang's All Here." That's the signal for hair pulling, scratching, police, patrols, and grief.

When diplomats and dictators get to talking to each other face to face, that brings the war that much closer. The conversation usually starts out with suggestions for a peaceful solution and ends with "you're a liar." Then both sides go home to tell their countrymen what a blankety-blank fellow the other fellow is. That may not be the beginning of the war, but it's a healthy start.

The cafes furnish convincing evidence that school vacation is over.

Searching for some historical information has convinced me that I should have a relief crew. I started out with office records, which were not adequate to the occasion. Thence over to see Bob Tuthill who had everything but what I wanted. So the journey was resumed for a conference with Terry Stephenson. He was in but not in the place I expected to find him. I changed to meet John Joplin, and he agreed to deliver the information sought for by Monday, which will be soon enough if he finds what I am after. This historical research affords a lot of walking, and sometimes little information.

If every day was Saturday the business barometer would register smiles.

And then there was the fellow who invested a "buck" in a punchboard and that's all he got for his money. The party who followed with a total of five cents emerged with twenty-five cents, and spent it with the grocer. There is more than one way to spend your money.

An apriary enthusiast says that a bee must visit 216,000 orange blossoms for every ounce of honey. Wonder who the statistician was in this case?

My friend Vic Rowland, an original member of The Journal organization, gives me the adios and goes to Stanford. It's all right. Maybe he can give me the low down on Millard Browne, who is going to try and stay in Stanford a year. I forgot to ask Millard why he put an "e" on his name, but he got away before I thought about it. Vic is just another leopard who refuses to change his spots. He is continuing his journalism studies.

I am getting so many invitations to attend the American Legion national convention to be held in Los Angeles that I'm becoming suspicious. Went up there once (Continued on Page 2, Col. 3)

Pamphlet Probers Selected

A special grand jury of 17 men and two women was drawn today by Presiding Superior Judge James Allen to investigate the "Fools Rush In" case, which broke just before the August primary election with distribution of the anonymous pamphlets in Fullerton and La Habra.

The court chose William Schumacher, Buena Park banker and former county supervisor, as foreman, and after instructing the venire, asked them to select a secretary and necessary committees.

The judge held that the first item of business should be the probe of the origin and authorship of the "Fools Rush In" booklet, which allegedly contained libelous statements about many candidates.

The jurors selected: Ralph Barnes of Brea, Ralph J. McFadden of Placentia, Robert Jeffrey of Irvine, C. W. TeWinkle of Costa Mesa, T. A. Rippey, Jr., of Laguna Beach, Clarence J. Brown of San Juan Capistrano, David Stoddard and Roy Divil, both of San Clemente; Harry Estus of Newport Beach. W. E. Dixon, C. W. Drutt, Charles D. Overshiner, Mrs. R. P. Yeagle and Mrs. Jeannette R. Terwilliger, all of Santa Ana; Ray Van Waggoner, Fred Backs and William Schumacher, all Anaheim; and William J. Fitch and A. R. Benson, both of Orange.

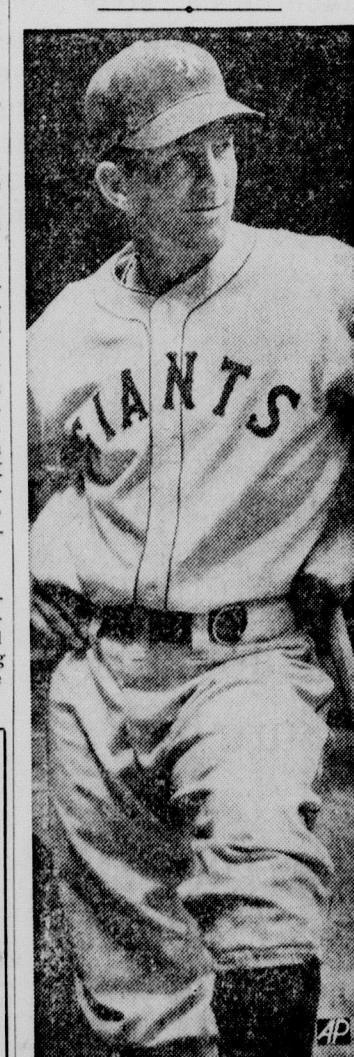

The jury retired to the jury room of Judge Allen's court, but will be assigned quarters in the Hall of Records, where other grand juries have conducted inquiries.

SPEED SAVES MAN'S LIFE

A telephone operator's coolness and quick wit, and a radio car's speed, were credited today with having saved the life of a man identified as James Bailey of Garden Grove.

The operator got the call at Anaheim exchange last night, and the voice on the other end of the wire asked her to deliver a farewell message. The speaker intended to commit suicide, the operator was told.

Talking with the man to learn more details of the intended message, she "plugged in" the supervisor, who at once called Anaheim police. They in turn asked Sheriff's officers to check on the call. Deputies sped to Garden Grove, forced the Bailey home open and reported that the windows and doors had been sealed tightly and gas jets opened. The man was removed to a hospital for treatment.

2 More Killed in Traffic

Traffic accidents today had claimed the lives of two men, one a pedestrian and the other a county road department worker, boosting the county's fatality toll to 49 since Jan. 1.

Victims are Charles S. Glancy, 56, of 821 South Lake street, Los Angeles, fatally hurt last night; and Darrell C. Meyer, 36, of 2434 Heliotrope drive, Santa Ana, killed instantly this morning.

TWO INJURED These were the two dead from the comparatively few accidents reported in the county and Santa Ana this week-end. Only two others were reported injured, neither seriously.

Glancy was struck down last night near the county hospital by a car driven by Robert Rowe, 26, of Studebaker road, Norwalk. He had stopped to read a direction sign, and was attempting to cross the busy 4-lane Highway 101 when he was hit. He died at the county hospital an hour after the accident. His body was removed to Smith and Tuthill mortuary, Santa Ana, and an inquest is to be conducted.

ROAD WORKER KILLED Rowe, who was not held, told California Highway Patrol Sergeant George Peterkin that he did not see Glancy until too late to avoid the accident. Several witnesses substantiated Rowe's story that Glancy stepped in front of his car. Traffic was tied up for almost an hour as witnesses volunteered their names and versions of the tragedy.

Meyer was working in the center of Valencia road, Placentia, this morning about 11 o'clock, operating a road-stripping equipment, when a truck and trailer driven by Harry Carpenter of 249 Fourth street, Garden Grove, passed. A wheel on the heavy trailer struck Meyer, and hurled him beneath the tires. He was killed instantly.

INQUEST TO BE HELD Meyer formerly was an assistant athletic coach at Laguna Beach high school, and also worked for a local nursery. He had been with the road department for 18 months.

Surviving are his parents, Mr. and Mrs. David Meyer of the Heliotrope drive address, where he made his home. He was unmarried. His body was removed to Smith and Tuthill mortuary, where an inquest is pending.

ANAHEIM BOY HURT A Mexican was hurt last night when he lost control of his car and ran into a telephone pole on Talbert road near Harbor boulevard. Jose Hernandez, 44, of Santa Ana, was the driver, and sustained lacerations about his face. He was treated at the county hospital and was discharged a short time later.

David A. Jones, 16, of Ball road, Anaheim, was cut about the face when a roadster in which he was riding with Carl Ihara, 19, also of Anaheim, collided with the rear of a coupe driven by James Pyles, 27, of 504 Fruit street. The accident occurred at Seventeenth and Main streets last night.

Hitler Hurls Gauntlet, Says He'll Free Sudetens

France Plans Mobilization Of All Troops

PARIS. (AP)—The French cabinet today completed plans for general mobilization in case it becomes necessary in the critical central European situation, informed sources asserted.

The ministers, who reviewed the nation's preparations in a meeting with Premier Edouard Daladier, were also said to have drawn up measures for evacuation and protection of the civil population if war should come.

Plans for the two steps were submitted by high army chiefs and approved by the ministers.

PHONE LINE OPEN

An open telephone line connected the premier's office with No. 10 Downing street, London. Daladier and British Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain were said to have conversed frequently while their nations tensely awaited Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler's pronouncement tonight of German foreign policy.

In Paris and throughout France crowds gathered before news bulletins boards, anxiously watching latest reports from Nurnberg, Germany, where Hitler was to address a Nazi party rally. Many prisoners abandoned work to gather on street corners and cafe terraces.

2 MILLION READY

While the ministers were closeted in the war ministry offices—Premier Daladier is also war minister of his "national defense" cabinet—French fighting forces were keyed to their highest pitch of efficiency.

An estimated 2,000,000 men, 2000 fighting planes and 200 ships of France's fighting fleets were in readiness.

An atmosphere of sharp tension spread through the capital despite officials' assurances that whatever Hitler's speech portended, many days might pass before any decisive steps were taken.

FRANCE IS READY

United States Ambassador William C. Bullitt conferred with Foreign Minister Georges Bonnet. Raymond Patenotre, minister of national economy and production, said in answer to questions on the nation's preparedness that "we have taken all necessary economic measures and we will not be surprised as we were in 1914."

HINES WINS MISTRIAL

NEW YORK. (AP)—Supreme Court Justice Ferdinand Pecora today granted a defense motion for a mistrial in the state's case against James J. Hines, Tammany district leader, on conspiracy-lottery charges in connection with the Dutch Schultz policy racket.

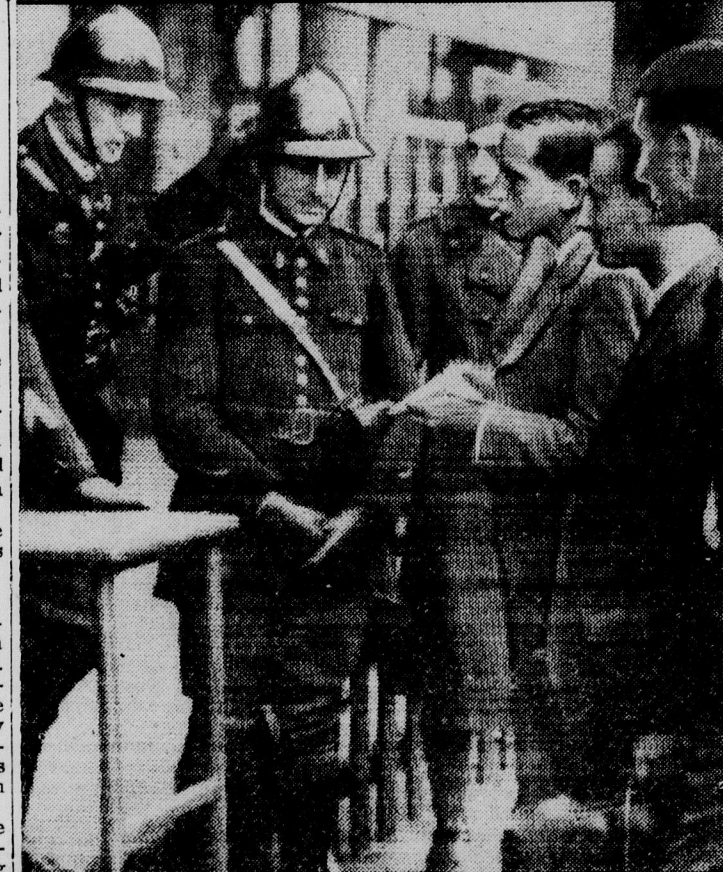

The sensational end to the four weeks' old case came after an oral opinion by Justice Pecora covering two hours and nine minutes.

By the simple device of ordering the withdrawal of a witness, the black robed justice thus threw out of court one of New York's greatest graft expose trials in many years.

Pershing Too Ill To Attend Fete

ST. MIHIEL, France. (AP)—General John J. Pershing and the American first army of World war days were honored today at ceremonies commemorating the wiping out of the Germans' St. Mihiel salient just 20 years ago.

General Pershing, although in France, was unable to attend on account of delicate health. He will celebrate his 78th birthday tomorrow.

CZECHS PLAN MARTIAL LAW IF SUDETEN DISORDERS DEVELOP

PRAGUE. (AP)—The Czechoslovak government today reached a decision to invoke martial law in sections of the Sudeten German region tonight if serious disorders develop following Reichsfuehrer Hitler's Nurnberg speech.

Martial law will be imposed "only in case of extreme necessity," according to the decision reached by Premier Milan Hodza and his chief ministers.

But in government offices it was said that order would be maintained at all costs.

A meeting of the government's inner council heard a report by Josef Cerny, ministry of the interior, concerning disorders in the sudeten districts last night, where Nazi forces reached new heights. Meanwhile the little republic kept her troops in readiness along her border with Germany.

QUAKE FELT IN NORTH STATE

EUREKA, Calif. (AP)—A moderate earthquake was felt over the Humboldt bay area shortly after 10 o'clock last night. The tremor was reported from Ferndale to the south and towns north of here, but apparently no damage resulted.

PASADENA. (AP)—The seismograph at the Carnegie Institution of Washington here recorded a sharp earthquake at 10:12:50 o'clock last night, the distance estimated to be about 1200 miles. The recording indicated the quake was strong enough to have done considerable damage had the epicenter been on land.

Wrong Way Watch For Corrigan

SAN FRANCISCO. (AP)—Douglas "Wrong Way" Corrigan will be presented with a "wrong way" watch when he visits San Francisco Wednesday.

The watch was especially built by a San Rafael jeweler for the occasion. The hands run counter-clockwise.

'Almighty Did Not Create Germans to Deliver Them to Alien Hatred,' He Declares

NURNBERG, Germany. (AP)—Reichsfuehrer Hitler in one of the greatest oratorical efforts of his life threw down the gauntlet to England and France tonight, asserting that come what may Germany is determined to liberate the Sudeten Germans.

Hitler's promise of aid to the 3,500,000 Sudetens in Czechoslovakia was unconditional.

"I assure the democracies that the fate of the Sudetens is not a matter of indifference to me," he said.

"If these harassed people feel they are without rights and aid they will get both from us."

"The Almighty did not create 3,500,000 Sudeten Germans to deliver them over to a hated foreign regime," Hitler shouted at the closing of the tenth annual Nazi party rally in a speech which the world had awaited.

NAZIS CHEER "The Almighty has not created 7,000,000 Czechs to act as the guardians of these Germans."

As a last possibility of peaceful solution of the conflict in Czechoslovakia, the German leader suggested self-determination for the Sudetens, without explaining, however, what machinery should be invoked.

As Hitler drove the three miles back to his hotel after the speech the streets were jammed with enthusiastic Nazis who greeted him with ecstatic cheers.

BENES ASSAILED In a week filled with emotional clashes nothing had heretofore occurred which produced such demonstrations of patriotic fervor as those which greeted the fuhrer's one and a third-hour speech.

Hitler's hatred of the Czechs of whom he spoke in contemptuous terms seemed centered upon the personality of President Eduard Benes of Czechoslovakia.

"Benes invented the lie we mobilized our troops May 21," he charged.

"A great power cannot stand for such a contemptible attack the second time," he challenged.

PLEBISCITE RULED OUT He ruled out the idea of a plebiscite because, he said, it "would only be conducted under brutal oppression."

The jammed Congress hall cheered lustily as Hitler tore into Czechoslovakia for "mistreating and oppressing" Sudeten Germans, whose demands for autonomy he supports.

He declared they were "being systematically ruined and doomed to slow extinction."

Mother of 6 Held As Boys' Killer

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Mrs. Pearl Moxley, 38-year-old mother of six children, pleaded guilty today to negligent homicide in the deaths of Raymond Parsons, 14, and his brother, Leland, 12.

Mrs. Moxley was charged with knocking down and fatally injuring the two boys June 6 as they pushed toward home a bicycle they had jointly bought with their savings.

Davis Cup matches will be at Germantown, Pa., Sept. 3, 4, 5.

Records Fall as Schools Open; 7,000 Will Register in S. A.

The clang of school bells sounded the opening today of the 1938-39 fall term in Santa Ana city schools, with nearly 7000 students thronging classrooms for the first study assignments.

Record enrollments were assured as figures for the first day were compared with figures for the opening day last year. A total of 6425 students had enrolled in all city schools at noon in comparison with 6245 for the same day last year.

Students are expected to continue enrolling throughout the remainder of this week, boosting the attendance still higher.

Biggest increase came in the junior college enrollment, which was 754 just before noon—an increase of 109 students over last year at the same time. A considerable increase was also reported at the high school where 1282 began classwork this morning.

Principal Lynn Crawford said this is an increase of 64 over the first day a year ago. Elementary schools reported a total of 2967 students, as compared with last year's opening day figure of 2965. Lathrop Junior High school reported 676 and Willard Junior High school 746 students, the first an increase, the second a slight decrease.

Henderson said final enrollments would probably be approximately 7000 in the city.

Schools also got under way throughout the county, with an estimated 25,000 students attending opening classes this morning.

FORD ASSAILS NLRB HEARING

WASHINGTON. (AP)—The Ford Motor company complained to the National Labor Relations board today that the examiner who heard charges of Wagner act violations at the company's Long Beach, Calif., assembly plant did not conduct "a full and fair hearing."

This complaint was included in a list of exception the company filed to the trial examiner's report. Thomas H. Kennedy, the examiner, held that the company had interfered with the rights of its employees to join the United Auto Workers' union (C. I. O.). Counsel for Ford protested that the examiner questioned witnesses at the hearing "with a view to eliciting testimony unfavorable to the company."

Maine and Maryland Decide Party Battles at Polls Today

2 STATES TO TEST POWER OF PRESIDENT

POLITICS AT A GLANCE (By the Associated Press)

Today: Maine elects three house members, governor and other state officers. Maryland nominates candidates for senator, governor and six house seats.

Tomorrow: Arizona, Colorado, New Hampshire, Vermont, Michigan, Louisiana, Utah and Washington hold primaries. Connecticut Democrats start convention. South Carolina Democrats choose candidate for governor in run-off primary.

Wednesday: Georgia nominates candidates for senator, governor and house. Delaware Republicans select house candidate in convention.

Thursday: Connecticut Republicans nominate ticket in convention.

The Tydings-Lewis primary in Maryland edged today into the limelight usually reserved for Maine's state election, forerunner of the general November balloting.

Voting in the two states inaugurated a busy political week, which will go far in determining the success or failure of President Roosevelt's efforts to defeat congressmen opposed to his program.

Senator Millard E. Tydings of Maryland, one of those on the President's blacklist, was up for Democratic renomination against Rep. David J. Lewis, whom Mr. Roosevelt lauded as a social security pioneer. Georgia will settle a similar contest Wednesday. There was no senate seat at stake in Maine, one of the two states lost by the Roosevelt-Garner ticket in 1936, but Democrats were trying to defeat a Republican governor and three Republican house members.

The traditional but sometimes erroneous theory that the Maine election indicates national sentiment brought both Democratic Chairman James A. Farley and Republican Chairman John Hamilton into the state campaign.

It would be a talking point for Democrats elsewhere if they could win one or more of the Maine offices on today's ballot, while Republicans could exult if they should retain their present control.

Gov. Lewis O. Barrows, Republican, was opposed by Louis Brann, his Democratic predecessor who lost a senatorial race two years ago. Brann has not been known as an especially ardent New Dealer, but Barrows declared the issue was whether Maine wanted to replace the present state administration with one sympathetic to the New Deal.

The Townsend old age pension program has been one of the principal issues in the congressional contests, for the three Republican incumbents received the endorsement of Townsend groups.

Some Democratic leaders expressed the belief their greatest hope was in the second district, where F. Harold Dubord, a Roosevelt supporter, was running against Rep. Clyde Smith. Farley singled out Dubord for special praise in the campaign.

Mr. Roosevelt did not take part in the Maine campaign, but he went into Maryland a week ago to speak in behalf of Lewis. The 69-year-old representative, who rose from coal miner to lawyer and legislator, contends that Tydings has voted more as a Republican than as a Democrat. The senator, who at 45 is seeking a third term, has argued that his opponent would be merely a rubber stamp.

The outcome of their battle, one of the most intense Maryland has witnessed in recent years, is complicated by an unusual vote counting system. Each county has from three to seven unit votes, depending on its legislative representation. The candidate getting a popular majority in a county wins its unit votes.

President Cheered by Apparent Success of Son's Operation

CONDITION SATISFACTORY, SAY DOCTORS

ROCHESTER, Minn. (AP)—President Roosevelt was cheered today by the apparent success of a serious stomach operation on his eldest son, James.

The chief executive was with his son yesterday as he rallied from the effects of the anesthesia. "How do you feel?" the President asked James, who is a patient at the Mayo clinic.

"Rocky, rocky," came the reply. Mr. Roosevelt, who sped to Rochester by special train from the summer White House at Hyde Park, N. Y., was in St. Mary's hospital here yesterday while James had a large gastric ulcer removed in an operation which required an hour and 45 minutes.

Stephen Early, the President's press secretary, said physicians reported James' condition "entirely satisfactory."

A bulletin regarding James' condition issued this morning said: "He had as good a night as could be expected for the first post-operative night. Temperature 99, pulse 100, respiration and blood pressure normal."

The bulletin was signed by Dr. H. K. Gray, the operating physician and Dr. G. B. Eusterman of the Mayo clinic.

While the President and his son were conversing several hours after the operation, the chief executive noticed that James had developed a case of hiccoughs, and inquired what physicians had prescribed to remedy the condition. James gave the technical name of the medicine.

In a jocular vein, the President said if the doctors knew less about the hiccoughs, they would have prescribed baking soda—a routine, old-fashioned remedy in the Roosevelt family.

Jokingly, the President added that he understood Dr. Howard K. Gray, the surgeon, had some trouble getting through James' old rowing muscles.

James once was a member of Harvard's varsity crew. Secretary Early reported that Mr. Roosevelt, Mrs. Roosevelt and James' wife, Betsy, "were greatly relieved" when they found James' ulcer was a benign rather than a malignant one.

Malignant ulcers are those which involve cancer. Benign ulcers do not. Post-operative examinations, Early said, had demonstrated positively that the ulcer was non-malignant.

Dr. Gray talked with reporters after the operation in company with Dr. Ross T. McIntire, White House physician. Dr. McIntire explained that James' ulcer had been in the upper part of the stomach. It was a large ulcer, the physician said, and it was feared it might penetrate the stomach wall.

After the ulcer had been removed, a second operation, which Dr. Gray described as "a short-circuiting type," was performed. It consisted of joining the intestine to the back wall of the stomach—in medical parlance a posterior gastroenterostomy.

He said in Fairhaven cemetery. B. R. A. L. E. Y.—Mrs. Maria Bradley Armstrong, 85, passed away at her home, Tustin avenue, Costa Mesa, Sept. 10. ## Miss California Is Crowned 'True Miss America' After Rating 2d at Atlantic City

NEW YORK. (AP)—The Atlantic City beauty pageant that produced a vanishing Miss America last year today had a problem of plural pulchitude, or two "Miss Americas."

Scornfully criticizing the judges who Saturday gave the nod to Marilyn Meseke, a 20-year-old blonde from Marion, O., Earl Carroll, who has had quite a bit to do with selecting beautiful ladies, last night placed a "golden" crown on the brow of Claire James of Los Angeles and pronounced her "the true Miss America."

Miss James, statuesque brunette of 19 years, placed second at the

NEW BUILDING STARTED FOR DICKEY STORE

After more than a quarter of a century of business in the downtown district of Santa Ana, the L. A. Dickey furniture company formulated tentative plans today to move into a completely modern structure at 1408-10 North Main street by Nov. 15.

The $14,000 building, which will be leased to Dickey's for five years with a renewal clause, is being built by C. D. Holmes of Santa Ana. R. C. McMillan is general contractor. Pouring of the cement for the building's foundation was started this morning, after a week's preliminary ground leveling work.

Dickey's present plans for their new furniture home is to operate the business on a smaller profit and quicker turn-over basis, working on a closer margin than ever before.

A removal sale, not a quitting sale, is now in effect at the present site at 221 E. Fourth street. It is expected that the firm will be able to enter their new building with an entirely new line of modern merchandise.

The sale, which has been described as the biggest in Dickey's history, includes the newest and latest furniture goods, contracted in the July market as well as the entire floor stock and warehouse merchandise now on hand, according to G. H. Grigg, sales and advertising manager.

"In moving we feel assured of Santa Ana's future growth and progress," Grigg stated.

The new plant will have 1800 more square feet of floor space than the present site. The building will be 60 by 125 feet, including a balcony in the rear. The same force of six employees will be retained.

A special parking area at the side of the building is also called for in the present plans.

Dickey started business with his father before the World war and have been in three different sites in Santa Ana. They have been 16 years at Fourth and Spurgeon.

BUREAUS TAKE LEAD IN FARM LEGISLATION

More farm-security legislation has been pushed through legislative channels by the farm bureau organizations of the county, state and nation than by any other single agency or individual, it was claimed today.

Executive Secretary C. J. Marks of the Orange county bureau maintained that "legislators give special preference to our proposals, (meaning those of all bureaus) because they know that our policies are built on facts and in the interest of society as a whole."

While some bureau-sponsored legislation has been controversial, the majority of it has not and all was designed for benefit of the farmer primarily and society as an entity. This has embraced legislation and proposals on "every conceivable viewpoint."

In considering the modern trend of organization among farmers, Marks declared that "paradoxical as it seems, the lower the returns received by farmers, the more anxious they are to join collectively in an organization for the purpose of pooling brain-power in attacking problems beyond the scope of the individual."

"We maintain that, in an age where all economic groups are becoming more and more organized, agriculture also must become organization-conscious without losing its rugged individualistic independence."

MEMBER TAX BOARD DIES

SAN FRANCISCO. (AP)—Pneumonia, complicated by a heart ailment, brought death yesterday to John C. Corbett, 65, San Francisco member of the state board of equalization for almost a quarter of a century.

His death left a vacancy on the board that Governor Frank Merriam may fill temporarily by his appointment, but complicated the November election situation. Less than two weeks ago, Corbett won the Republican, Democratic and Progressive parties' nominations at the primary election.

State central committees of the three political parties, under the law, may select nominees to replace Corbett on each ticket in the November election.

German Catapult Plane Reaches N.Y.

PORT WASHINGTON, N. Y. (AP)—The new German catapult seaplane Nordstern, used by the Reich as an argument for the immediate institution of transatlantic airmail service, landed here today on its first trip to the United States with a new record for the Azores-New York "experimental" run.

The Nordstern flew the 2397-mile route in 13 hours, 41 minutes out of Horta. It averaged 175 miles an hour on the trip.

Sawtelle Narcotic Sale Jails Suspect

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—A man whom federal narcotic agents said was selling opium to inmates of the national military home at Sawtelle was in jail today, under $5000 bond.

The agents arrested Thomas Bellev Sunday after, they declared, he sold a half ounce of opium to a veteran.

I Just Found Out About Orange County

By BOB SWANSON

Trouble-Shooters

He's a conductor, motorman, freight man, baggage handler, information clerk, and trouble-shooter—not to mention bus driver—all in one.

A driver for the Motor Transit company has to be versatile. While passengers pour their tales of happiness and woe into his ear, he must handle heavy buses in traffic, watch for passengers on street corners, punch tickets, keep an eye on baggage, make change, and see that he arrives at the next station on schedule.

Motor Transit drivers are forbidden by company rules to converse with passengers, except to give information. That makes them good listeners. They hear of the tribulations of sweethearts, all about business conditions, the weather, bridge parties—and they don't have to say a word.

Those who talk most, it was hinted, are the ladies.

Drivers on the Santa Ana-Los Angeles run usually make two roundtrips a day, drive from between 158 to 163 miles, make hundreds of stops. It's about a two-hour drive one way.

Busiest times are in the morning when people go to work and in the evening when they come home again. Quietest hours are usually in the afternoon between 2 and 3 o'clock.

Punching tickets is a job in itself. There are 10 punches for every round-trip ticket bought on the bus—year, month, day, place of origin, destination, three cancellation punches and fare.

Tickets are collected as the passengers disembark. Favorite habit of passengers—even old-time ones—is to lose the ticket. In the old days they had to buy new ones; today they must fill out a special form.

Stopping and starting is tough on gas mileage as well as on brakes. Average is about four or five miles to the gallon. Example: one driver estimates he makes between 14 and 25 stops between the Santa Ana station and Orange alone.

Like trains, buses roll on a rigid time schedule. Drivers use standard railroad watches, which are checked for accuracy every two weeks, get to the station on the minute in spite of a varying number of stops.

Enough time is provided in the schedule for a maximum number of stops for passengers. If there are few stops, the bus may hold over at the station for a few minutes; if it cannot leave the station ahead of schedule.

If there is a delay of more than five minutes, for any cause, the dispatcher in Los Angeles is called. He may in turn call the nearest terminal point, order another bus out if the delay is a long one. The dispatcher handles the four counties where the Motor Transit operates—Orange, Los Angeles, Riverside, San Bernardino.

Chief cause of delay is tire trouble. A flat on the rear inside tire is the biggest pain, requiring from 35 minutes to possibly an hour to fix.

About two-thirds of the passengers are regular travelers, drivers say. The rest are seldom, if ever, traveled on a bus before—they are usually a little bewildered, fumble with their pocketbooks, drop packages.

From the point of service, two oldest drivers on the Santa Ana-Los Angeles run are Richard Butler and Sam Carr. They've been making the daily rounds for 15 years.

Some passengers have been riding with Butler and Carr during their entire period of service. Several began riding buses while they were in school, continued to do so after going into business.

Butler says he is less sure of himself while driving his private automobile. Reason: it's too low and he can't see. He thinks the big, streamlined buses of today are as easy to operate as a car.

Butler likes the early morning run best—he sees your real disposition because chances are you're only half awake. If you are friendly that early in the morning, he figures you must be a pretty good sort.

Most frequently asked question: "Are you late?" If they wait five or 10 minutes, most people figure the bus must be late; don't realize they might be early.

3 Nominated to G.O.P. Committee

Attorney Adrian Marks of Santa Ana, Republican nominee for assembly, 74th district, today nominated three Orange county persons to membership on the state Republican committee. He and all other assembly nominees have the privilege of such selections.

Chosen by Marks are Justus F. Cramer of Orange, the state building and loan commissioner who now heads the state committee; Mrs. Fred C. Rowland, wife of Santa Ana's mayor; and Mrs. Louis Moulton, wife of a well known El Toro rancher.

Farm Problems to Be Discussed at All-Day Meeting, Oct. 7

ANAHEIM HIGH TO BE MECCA FOR 1000 MEN

ANAHEIM.—A growers' marketing institute was announced today for Oct. 7 at Anaheim Union High school under auspices of the Agricultural Extension service of the University of California, to have an all-day panel discussion on farm problems.

Morning and afternoon sessions will attract some 1000 or more growers, it is expected, along with notables from the university and the California Farm Bureau federation billed as speakers.

The morning will have Farm Adviser Harold E. Wahlberg as presiding officer, and speakers include: John Schneider, marketing specialist of the university; Dr. H. R. Wellman, agricultural economist; and J. J. Deuel of the law and utilities department of the state organization.

The afternoon program will have State Agricultural Commissioner Anson Brock, formerly of Santa Ana, as presiding officer.

The panel discussion will include talks by Leroy Lyon of Anaheim, Willard Smith of Orange, John W. Crill of Garden Grove, Frank Was and A. J. McFadden, both of Santa Ana; N. M. Launer and Ray Wheatley, both of La Habra; F. B. Browning and W. V. Tanti, both of Tustin; S. C. Hartrant and H. M. May, both of Fullerton; and George Kellogg, of Yorba Linda.

WESTMINSTER WOMAN DIES

WESTMINSTER.—Alice E. Hazard, 24, a native of Canada but a resident of California for 10 years, died this morning at the family home in Westminster, California and Nevada streets, after a brief illness.

She is survived by her husband, Kenneth W. Hazard; two daughters, Vivienne A. and Elaine D. Hazard; parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles N. Brownmiller of Garden Grove; two sisters, Mrs. Jasper Smith and Mrs. Paul Rothenberger and one brother, Marvin Brownmiller all of Garden Grove. She was a member of the Four Square Gospel church of Garden Grove.

Funeral services will be conducted from the Hilgenfeld funeral home at 2 p. m. Wednesday. The Rev. M. Palett, pastor of the Church of the Nazarene at Midway City, will officiate and interment will be made in the family plot in Fairhaven cemetery.

SCHOOLS OPEN, MEEHAN WARNS

Captain Henry Meehan, of the California highway patrol, has his finger working the school zones for violation in all parts of Orange county. The beginning of the school fall term.

The force is giving special attention to see that drivers observe the motor vehicle rules, having in mind the public safety. The patrol does not propose there shall be any laxity in observance, which may have developed during the summer vacation.

Another source of violation will be carefully watched by Meehan's patrol, and that is close observation of patrons of cocktail rooms for the purpose of preventing drunk driving, always a dangerous source for accidents.

SEARS TO FETE 52 YEARS OF MERCHANDISING

A merchandising event with 52 years of progressive success back will be launched today at the Main street store of the Sears-Roebuck organization, nationwide, according to George Shanahan, manager of the Santa Ana store.

The local organization will enter into the anniversary with the zest and determination that returned to it last year the field trophy for making the best showing of any store on the Pacific coast.

For 10 years Sears-Roebuck has merchandised from the 505 North Main street location. During this fifty-second anniversary the Main street store will be a bee-hive of merchandising activity, continuing until the close of the sale, Oct. 3. Advertising announcements are to appear Thursday.

Manager Shanahan and his clerical personnel are busily engaged correlating merchandise for their convenience and inspection. Enumeration of items is impossible for limited space, but in the pages reserved for special mention there isn't anything you want you won't be able to find.

More than half a century of business progress is back of this anniversary sale. It is an event in which management and personnel take a special concern about their merchandising wants. You will get the most out of it by familiarizing yourself with the general announcements. You will know what you want. The clerical force will assist you in the completion of your transaction.

The management requests a careful scrutiny of items, price, quality and comparison. The sale starts Thursday morning and ends Oct. 3.

COUNTY GROUP RETURNS HOME

A group of Orange county officials were back at their regular duties today after attending the convention of the California County Planning Commissioners' association in Santa Barbara Sept. 9 and 10.

A discussion of the Los Angeles and Orange county flood control programs by Colonel Warren T. Hannum, division army engineer, featured the meetings.

Attending from Orange county were Dr. Walter L. Bigham, Jules W. Markel, Hugh T. Thompson, O. L. Halsell, A. A. Beard, L. Deane Tilton, Harold J. Jones, Frank G. Hanson, Supervisor Harry Riley and Steele Finley and M. N. Thompson. Hugh Thompson of Orange was elected vice president of the association.

The convention voted to accept an invitation to hold its Sept. 1939 convention on Treasure Island, San Francisco bay.

TOWNSEND NEWS, VIEWS

By WALTER R. ROBB

(This column deals with Townsend news and views. Any opinions which are expressed herein are not necessarily those of The Journal.)

Five hundred happy, smiling, applauding Townsends gave evidence Saturday night at Santa Ana. Townsend hall of their approval of Miss Kay Colleen Berry's Townsend speech. Previous to the speaker's appearance the Hurd-Lentz orchestra for forty-five minutes gave another of its splendid concert. This is the crowd to the Townsend mass meeting that followed.

At 7:45 p. m. the meeting proper was called to order by Walter R. Robb, Orange County Townsend organizer, who acted as master of ceremonies. E. E. Proud of La Habra escorted Miss Berry to the speaker's platform. Walter B. Baugh and Mrs. T. F. Cruzen were introduced as the leader of community singing and Mrs. Cruzen as the accompanist. Both proved themselves very capable and will act in the same capacity next Saturday night when another county-wide mass meeting will be held in the same hall.

The meeting began with the singing of America, followed by the Lord's prayer and the flag salute. Announcements were made and the district organizer announced the following persons having been appointed to have charge of workers in their own towns: Mrs. Lena Burdick, Costa Mesa; Mr. E. E. Proud, La Habra; Mrs. Ota A. Everett, Fullerton; Mrs. Ida A. Freeman, Anaheim; Mrs. R. Twining, Brea; Ben Privett, Santa Ana; Gardens and D. L. Thomas, Tustin.

During the afternoon and after the meeting the ladies of the Townsend clubs served ice cream, cake, coffee and sandwiches and were generously patronized. The profits received from their efforts will be used to help L. C. Carlisle

Laguna Red Cross Helps Hospitals

LAGUNA BEACH.—The Laguna Beach Red Cross chapter recently sent 10 blankets, 10 bedside bags, 10 ice bags and 4 bed jackets to the Pacific branch office in San Francisco for distribution to a government hospital.

Part of the shipment has gone to the Letterman General hospital, according to a letter received here today. Mrs. F. D. Pettus, Laguna Beach, had charge of the annual project.

BOOM IN WAGONS

WASHINGTON. (AP)—The carriage and wagon business jumped 50 per cent between 1935 and 1937, says the census bureau. The jump was due mostly to the great number of farm wagons sold.

CHILEAN CABINET QUILTS

SANTIAGO, Chile. (AP)—The Chilean cabinet resigned today as an aftermath of the unsuccessful Nazi putsch of Sept. 5.

Robb announced that next Saturday night the speaker would be John H. Weir, brilliant, witty and forceful lecturer. He also announced a county Townsend mass meeting for next Sunday afternoon at Santa Ana Birch park with Mayor C. T. Johnson, Townsend endorsed candidate to congress as the chief speaker.

Watch this column for more particulars concerning both of these meetings. He urged that all voters not yet registered do so at once as the books of registration would close on Sept. 29, 1938.

In presenting Miss Berry as the evening's youthful speaker Robb told of her being a graduate of the University of Southern California in Los Angeles and of her experience as a Townsend speaker. She graciously expressed her appreciation for the complimentary introduction given her and immediately began to speak.

Her opening comments were directed at an attempt to describe the social disorder which is prevailing in the nation, the suffering and privation which has been occasioned and pointed with the aid of news accounts to the resulting increase of both suicides and depression. She depicted that man such want and the results coming from it should exist in a land of plenty for all.

Historically she traced the origin of the United States government created to make men free and expressed the doubt that men were free, when shackled with so much of unnecessary suffering and need. In expressing her doubt she quoted:

"O' say, does that star spangled banner yet wave
O'er the land of the free and the home of the brave?"

TWO NEW FIRE HOUSES, PARKS DEDICATED

Two dedications Saturday gave the general public and hosts of visitors from neighboring counties a close-up inspection of the new sub-stations of the State Division of forestry at San Juan Capistrano and Yorba Linda.

Besides the fire stations, which now are completely equipped and represent investment of $25,000 in buildings at each place, small playgrounds adjoining were inspected and dedicated. These play areas were developed by the state firefighters, and are for public use. They will be open the year around.

The small parks, as well as the sub-stations themselves, are on sites donated by the citizens of the two communities. There are picnic tables, ovens, comfort stations and playgrounds.

The dedicatory program at San Juan Capistrano was in the morning, arranged under direction of Elmer Osterman, the assistant state ranger, and Chief E. A. Nydegger of the San Juan Capistrano volunteer, and their men.

At this place speakers included President John Forestry Protective association, Supervisor A. P. Dean of the Cleveland National forest, State Forest Ranger Joe Sherman of Orange headquarters and Assistant Farm Advisor Max Cory.

Plans for the Yorba Linda dedication were under the charge of commerce and the local fire protection volunteers, and included prior to the dedication races and games and an inspection of the plant, and was concluded after dedication by a free barbecue, attended by 500.

Completion of the Costa Mesa unit, now under construction, and with the two plants dedicated Saturday, San Juan Capistrano and Yorba Linda, as well as the unit at Midway City, Orange and Trabuco, along with the telephone service to these units from Gilman Peak and Balero Peak, above Carbon canyon, and in the Cleveland National forest, and the 150 miles of forest road, constructed under various projects of the federal government, provides splendid service for protection of Orange county, according to Joe Sherman, state forest ranger in charge of Orange county.

S. N. Rosedale, chairman of the day, president of the chamber of commerce, presented Willard Smith chairman of the board of supervisors, and Joe Sherman, Harry Sheppard, congressman of the district, talked briefly, and was followed by Col. Wilcox, representing Col. Connelley, representing the WPA, which provided the labor for the plant at Yorba Linda.

Others presented were N. B. Pratt, state forester of the district; Herb Gilman, state board of forestry, from San Dimas; Harry Birdie, of the federal and state co-ordination service of Sacramento; Fred Clott, local fire chief, in volunteer service; A. P. Dean, forest supervisor in the Cleveland National forest; Bert Stevenson, district ranger of the Cleveland National forest; A. Longaker, district ranger from Corona; John Osterman of Santa Ana, president of the Orange County Forest Protective association; Woodbridge Metcalfe, extension forester of the University of California at Berkeley; E. S. Miller, state forest service of San Diego county; R. Z. Smith, state forest ranger of San Bernardino county; Fire Chief Roy Davis of Fullerton; Fire Chief Perry Owens of Buena Park; Fire Chief A. L. Tomblin of Orange, and Ranger John Tomblin in charge of the forest station at Yorba Linda.

Assisting Mr. Rosedale with arranging the program were Mrs. Olive Beard, in charge of the program; Jack Capistrano, in charge of the barbecue; George Kellogg, in charge of finances, and Fred Clott, in charge of grounds.

common use among life insurance companies she proved that in America, men are not free from the dread of probable poverty and dependence upon charity of some nature in old age.

She traced industrial development of the nation and the illustrated specifically how modern machine production had and was continuing to displace men as workers and was adding to the nation's relief problems.

She indicated the program of the Agricultural Adjustment act as being selfish in spirit and in explaining said: "When we talk of over production it does not mean that we are producing more than we can use but only that we are producing more than can be sold at a profit." The most of New Deal type of legislation was pointed out as possessing a similar selfishness of spirit. Likewise she lashed at former President Hoover for his dilatoriness in taking the distribution of wealth problem and recalled to the attention of her audience that he had predicted that "prosperity was just around the corner."

She predicted the supplanting of both the Republican and Democratic parties by the Townsend party. The principles of the Townsend National Recovery plan was a superior program to that of either of the old parties she averred. It was a rock, she said, upon which the house of government would eventually be built. The young speaker proved herself to be adept in the use of humor as well as logic. She was given hearty and prolonged applause at the close of her address.

The meeting was closed by singing "God Be With You Till We Meet Again" and the Townsend pledge.

West Orange Home Unit Will Meet

ORANGE.—The first fall meeting of the West Orange home department will be held at the Orange County Farm Bureau hall Wednesday at 11:30 a. m., Mrs. Perry Grout, chairman, announced today.

There will be a pot-luck luncheon at noon, following which Miss Francis Liles, county home demonstration agent, will give a demonstration on color plan in the home.

ORANGE POOL ENDS SEASON

ORANGE.—Turning in a record attendance day, the Orange city park's plunge closed its doors for the season Saturday night, climaxing its most successful year.

Caretaker Ernest Unzelmann said that he would report on attendance and financial statistics to the city council at an early date.

There had been no exact figures of attendance at the plunge available at the present time.

Dr. Croal Adopted By Oscar, the Pig

Oscar, Knights of Columbus pig, is no respecter of time or place. While Dr. and Mrs. V. C. Croal were dining at the hotel Saturday night, Oscar appeared on the scene and took possession of the Croal front lawn.

Dr. Croal and his guests did not know that Oscar was present until the phone rang and a voice said, "oink, oink," and then hung up.

Dr. Croal now has a Knights of Columbus membership application blank and is hunting a new member in the lodge's drive for increased enrollment. Under the rules, he must keep the pig until he finds that member.

LOCHINVAR IN RAGS

by KATHRYN CULVER

Julie Hamilton, small-town Southern girl, regrets her engagement to Kenneth Terry. When she meets Barry Caldwell, impoverished young Westerner, hiking to New York for a radio audition, she falls in love with him. Meanwhile, Kenneth has come under the spell of Isold Fleming, glamorous visitor from New York. When Barry tells Julie he loves her, she confesses her love for him, and breaks her engagement to Kenneth. A little later, however, to prevent a fight between Barry and Kenneth, she desperately tells Barry she has merely been flirting with him. The next morning, she tries to explain to Kenneth. He is about to go on his way, when Kenneth challenges him to ride a wild, unbroken horse. Barry takes the dare, is thrown, and is taken to a hospital. That afternoon, when Julie, accompanied by her cousin, Normandy Buford, goes to the hospital to make an effort to convince Barry that she lied to him, she finds he has disappeared.

CHAPTER XX

FOR an instant, Julie was incredulous. How could Barry have got out of the hospital without being stopped? Then, she said quickly "Come, Nobby! Let's get back to your house! He must have gone there. Surely, he can't mean to go straight out onto the road again—straight from a hospital bed!"

But when they reached Normandy's, Julie saw that Barry was not there. Nor had he been there. Normandy's servant reported. Julie waited anxiously, thinking that he might still turn up. But he didn't. She phoned the hospital, in case he might have been found there, after all. But he hadn't.

"It looks, Julie, as though he actually has gone," said Normandy with a sigh. "The young idiot! He proved to be a fool. For a day or two, Julie clung to a thin hope that he was still about town somewhere—that some one would bring her word that he had been seen. But as the days passed, with no word of him, this hope died."

There was no question about it, he had vanished completely—gone out of her life as suddenly as he had come.

Julie was crushed. What was so unbearable was that he had gone away embittered—still believing that she had tricked and betrayed him. Oh, if only she had gone to the hospital one brief hour sooner, everything would have been so different. Now she knew that she would never see him again—never have a chance to convince him of the truth. He would go on feeling bitter toward her as long as he remembered her.

In addition, she was badly worried over the fact that he had gone off without waiting to recover from the effects of his ride on Black Dynamite. It was true that he had not actually been injured in that ride, but the doctor had considered it best for him to stay in bed for several days. Instead, he had recklessly set out again on his arduous journey. She pictured him lying by some lonely roadside, in a state of collapse. She imagined all sorts of dreadful things.

SHE was so unhappy and upset that she went to the extreme of running a personal notice, addressed to Barry, in all the leading

DEATH TAKES KITTY BAKER OF ANAHEIM

ANAHEIM.—Mary H. C. Baker, a well-known actress, died yesterday at the family home, 129 Melrose street, Anaheim, after an extended illness.

She was the widow of Frank W. Baker whose death occurred in June of this year. She was a native of Iowa but has lived in Anaheim for more than 20 years. She is survived by six sons: Dr. E. D. Baker of Spokane, Fred S. Baker of Texas, Sidney W. Baker of Montana, George S. Baker of Anaheim, Harry E. Baker of Oakland and S. F. Baker of Los Angeles. She also leaves nine grandchildren.

She was a member of the Wesley M. E. Church South and of the Women's Christian Temperance union.

Funeral services will be conducted from the Hilgenfeld funeral home at 2 p. m. tomorrow. The Rev. Henry F. Beaver, pastor of the Wesley M. E. Church South, will officiate and interment will be made in the family plot in Loma Vista

Sattler Home Is Scene Of Barbecue

A warm September evening added to the charm of the lovely patio of the George Sattler home on Panorama Heights Saturday evening, when they entertained friends at a barbecue dinner.

The colorful table which was set with gay pottery, was centered with dahlias, and placed near the outdoor fireplace, where a pleasant fire was burning.

After the dinner hour, guests enjoyed an evening of contract, with Mrs. Howard Timmons winning the lady's prize, and the award for the men going to R. C. Holmes.

Included in the Sattlers' guest list were Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Holmes, Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Swales, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Timmons, Mr. and Mrs. Bradford Hellis, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cogan, Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Dunning, Lt.-Com. I. F. Landis and Mrs. Landis, Mrs. Sara Johnston Haddon, and her house guest, Mrs. Sterns, and Miss Snow, a sister of Mrs. Hellis, from Virginia.

FAMILY HOLDS MONTHLY PARTY

An enjoyable family affair is the monthly gathering of the Lykke family for an evening of bridge.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Merker gave the latest party on Saturday evening in their home at 2115 North Ross street. After a bridge play, a late supper was served.

Present with their mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. P. Lykke, were Mr. and Mrs. Ed Lykke of Los Angeles, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Lykke, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Lykke, Mrs. Christine Faccou, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Deininger of Torrance and the hosts.

Mrs. Parker Hostesses Luncheon

Mrs. Harvey Parker was a gracious hostess Saturday afternoon in her home at 514 South Lyon street, entertaining a group of the matrons who so cordially welcomed her to Santa Ana when she arrived, a stranger, some months ago.

A single lovely red rosebud in a slender vase centered each small luncheon table, with Miss Marion Parker assisting her mother in serving. The rooms were beautifully decorated with gladioli and pretty baby asters from the home garden, as well as colorful tuberous begonias presented Mrs. Parker by Mrs. A. J. Cruickshank.

At the close of the afternoon's contract, table prizes were presented Mrs. Sara Johnston Haddon, Mrs. William Taylor Stearns and Mrs. J. A. Prescott.

Guests of Mrs. Parker were Mrs. A. J. Cruickshank, Mrs. J. Frank Burke of Los Angeles, Mrs. Loyal King, Mrs. Glenn Warner, Mrs. R. G. Tutill, Mrs. Fred Rowland, Mrs. James Willis Rice, Mrs. H. E. Van Dien, Mrs. William Taylor Stearns, Mrs. Sara Johnston Haddon and Mrs. J. A. Prescott.

GARDEN GROVE GIRL IS PRETTY BRIDE

Miss Lois Helen Mark, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Mark, made a pretty bride when she was married late yesterday afternoon to John Stewart Day, son of Mr. and Mrs. O. J. Day of Westminster. Rites were read in the First Methodist church of Garden Grove, of which city the bride and her parents are residents.

The new Mrs. Day wore a smart fall frock in teal blue, with a bonnet accessories. Her sister, Miss Fern Mark, attended her wearing a frock of duobunt with navy accessories.

Charles F. Andres, brother-in-law of the groom, was his best man, and Dr. Charles F. Seitter performed the ceremony, for which Louis Basse and James Pugh were ushers.

A brief reception was held at the Charles F. Andres home in Garden Grove before the couple left for a mountain honeymoon.

IS HOSTESS TO EIGHTSOME AT SUPPER

Miss Virginia Kern was hostess at an enjoyable supper party in her home at 530 South Birch street Saturday evening. She centered a lace-spread table with stenciled pink anaryllis floating in a low crystal bowl and flanked by pink tapers.

After dinner the guests, Miss Muriel Matzen, Miss Helen Wiesseman, Andrew Wilson, Harry Motley, Clarence Hamilton, and the hostess, went to Huntington Beach to dance.

Y.L.I. Party Is Highly Enjoyable

The Ebell clubhouse Peacock room, so attractively rejuvenated during the summer months, was a charming setting for a benefit card party given Saturday afternoon by the Young Ladies' Institute of Santa Ana, with half a hundred tables in play.

Enjoyment of the affair was increased by many factors, among them that it was the initial large benefit affair of the season, that a delicious dessert course was served, and that especially beautiful flowers, dahlias and zinnias in glowing tones, had been arranged as background by Miss Elizabeth Paine.

Lavish prizes, too, added pleasure to the guests. Exquisite linens were the card-game awards, going to Mrs. Earl Lepper and Mrs. Harry Edwards at contract, Mrs. Jennie Miller and Mrs. Hugh McKemy at auction, and Mrs. Allen Mandy at five hundred. Prizes of pottery and linen were given as special awards to Miss Bertha Klatt, Miss Anna Ohlke, Miss Bernice Borchard, Mrs. John Maring, Mrs. John Rudolph and Mrs. Ralph Mitchell.

Smart fall fashions were presented in an attractive style show given through the courtesy of Rankin's, with models including Miss Gwen Griffin, Miss Madeline Paxton, Miss Lorene Thurlow, Miss Lillian Breaux, Miss Betty Vosskuhl, Miss Bettie Timmons and Mrs. Charles Borchard.

Greeting guests at the door were the Y. L. I. members who arranged the delightful party, all in colorful formal gowns. With Mrs. Emil Wetzel, chairman, were Miss Paine, Mrs. Frank Glaab, Miss Nellie Colombini, Miss Margaret Young and Mrs. U. J. Engelmann.

They were assisted by a group of Junior Y. L. I. members, including Miss Mary Markel, Miss Marilyn Maag, Miss Louise Taylor, Miss Carolyn Harvey and Miss Betty Mae Engelmann.

DESSERT PARTY ENJOYED BY AUXILIARY

On Saturday afternoon Mrs. Lawrence Young and Dr. Julia Hinrichs were co-hostesses at a pleasant dessert bridge in the Young home at 2112 Greenleaf street, with members of the Orange county Osteopathic association auxiliary as their guests.

Dr. Peryl Magill sent a glowing bouquet of dahlias in rust and pale yellow tones, and its striking colors were repeated in pompons and daisies, elsewhere in the home. Small tables were centered with single rosebuds for the serving of dessert, after which the new president, Miss Julia Magill, presided over a brief business session.

She appointed Dr. Hester Olewiler as historian, Dr. Julia Hinrichs as program chairman, and Dr. Peryl Magill, publicity chairman.

Final plans for a rummage sale planned by the group for Oct. 29 for the benefit of the Osteopathic College student loan fund were made, and a donation toward furnishing the women's dormitory at the college was voted.

Games during the remainder of the afternoon resulted in contract prizes going to Mrs. Jackson Scott, Mrs. Young, and Dr. Mary E. Wright, while at Chinese checkers, Mrs. H. W. Leeding, Miss Julia Magill, and Mrs. A. E. Valier were high, with Mrs. Loma Adams receiving a consolation award.

Special gifts were presented Mrs. H. J. Howard, Mrs. Jackson Scott, and Mrs. Margaret Gienger, retiring officers.

Present were Miss Julia Magill, Mrs. Loma Adams, Mrs. H. J. Howard, Mrs. A. E. Valier, Mrs. E. J. Tibbets, Mrs. Jackson Scott of Fullerton, Mrs. H. W. Leeding, Dr. Mary E. Wright, Dr. Julia Hinrichs, Dr. Peryl Magill, and Mrs. Young.

Final Summer Touch

'Round the neckline of a simple white summer frock goes this hand-crocheted collar to sound a gay note in accents. Its central theme is turquoise solid crocheted and its trim brown cross-stitch embroidery. The brown felt gaucha hat is chin-strapped chain-fashion with turquoise grosgrain ribbon.

WEEKLY BOOK REVIEW

By MOLLY HARVEY

Editor's Note: This is one of a series of weekly book reviews of current publications which will appear each Monday in The Journal

Review of "Young Man With a Horn" by Dorothy Baker

Current periodicals are partly responsible for the popular conception that swing musicians are a bunch of gin souse crackpots who are sweeping the younger generation off their feet in mass hysteria. In her startling "Young Man with a Horn," a Houghton Mifflin Fellowship novel, Dorothy Baker pictures the tragedy of one of these top flight exponents of swing, a musician's musician, for whom music was an obsession and an element of self destruction; an artist burdened with that difficult, the vague border line being on the verge of insanity. Thus, two genres, the popular conception, but instead of disgust or ridicule one feels only sympathy for Rick Martin who had no regard for himself as a human being, but only as a creator; who might have found his fulfillment had he known any music but jazz, or any way of living but the crazy, nervous life that goes with the creation of jazz.

A neglected child, Rick found his only solace fooling on the piano in the All Souls' Mission in Los Angeles. His only friends were negroes who shared Rick's consuming desire to make music and taught him to play as few white men can, "to take off and invent, extempore, some of the freshest, most imaginative music that ever occurred to anyone." He set up pins in a bowling alley till he earned money to buy a horn and from then on his life was a meteoric rise.

Games during the remainder of the afternoon resulted in contract prizes going to Mrs. Jackson Scott, Mrs. Young, and Dr. Mary E. Wright, while at Chinese checkers, Mrs. H. W. Leeding, Miss Julia Magill, and Mrs. A. E. Valier were high, with Mrs. Loma Adams receiving a consolation award.

The real start came the summer he played with a college band at the Rendez-Vous ballroom in Balboa. Rick was the power behind the band and here he began to turn out the solo work that knocked them off their feet five years running in New York, for it was only a matter of time until the leader of the biggest orchestra of the day picked him up. Rick lived for his music. After work he got together with other men from other bands and they'd play the rest of the night for the sheer need of it. He was so busy playing that he didn't sleep and he didn't eat and he found himself drinking constantly to keep going.

His brief marriage to wealthy, neurotic Amy North hastened the end that was inevitable. One day, carried away by liquor and the creative urge Rick tried to make his trumpet do the impossible, muffed a recording because he tried for a note no one could reach with a horn. Then he went to pieces, not in a small way, but so thoroughly it killed him.

Mrs. Baker's novel moves along swiftly, not a superfluous word marring the clear cut precision of her theme. The extreme simplicity of her style and her exact choice of words indicate real ability in handling the tools of her trade. Inspired by the music, though not the life of Leon (Bix) Beiderbecke "Young Man with a Horn" should become a classic, interpreting as it does with amazing technical knowledge a native American art form—swing music.

MISS CHAPMAN RETURNS FROM EUROPE

Miss Katherine Chapman has just returned to her home at 2032 North Main street after a European tour. She left here June 19, accompanied by her cousin, Miss Florence Wernham.

They reached Plymouth, England, on the S. S. Statendam, and in London were met by an aunt, Miss Florence Chapman. The three then toured the British Isles, Holland, Belgium, Germany, France and Switzerland.

On their return they spent a week in New York City and another week in Chicago.

VACATIONISTS BACK HOME

Dr. and Mrs. John W. Hancock, of 1101 North Ross street, have returned to Santa Ana following a trip that took them east for three weeks. They visited Pierceville, Ind., where they helped Mrs. Virginia Downey celebrate her 80th anniversary. She is Mrs. Hancock's mother.

Later they spent some time with their son, and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Virgil H. Hancock of Cincinnati, Ohio. They returned here by the southern route, stopping in New Orleans, where they visited with another son, John Hinsley Hancock.

ANNOUNCEMENT

HONOREE RECEIVES GIFTS AT SHOWER

When Miss Fern Greenwald, Miss Margaret Giacomazzi and Miss Mary Goodman had planned a lovely party last Friday at the Lake Club house, Huntington Beach, it was a stark shower in honor of Mrs. Ronald Shepard.

Colorful asters and zinnias decorated the rooms, and individual tables where refreshments were served, were centered with low flower arrangements and quaint animal figurines. Favors and placecards in the pink and white theme added to the charm of the tables.

Prizes were awarded to Mrs. Frances Lyon and Mrs. Agnes Snadell following an afternoon of games. Invited to share the afternoon with the honoree and the hostesses were the Mesdames Ina Blossom, Ada King, Marian Sherman, Ethel Hadley, Mae White, Mrs. C. C. Blackstone, Rheta Atkins, Ruth Bates, Susan Bergvelt, Beatrice Carpenter, Elsie Chambers, Pauline Webb, Viola McIntosh, Dora Dow, Ethel Dwyer, Alice Freeman, Eunice Hepburn, Gladys Jones, Dorothy Lewis, Frances Lyon, Frances McKelvey, Kathryn Scates, Agnes Smith, Agnes Snadell, Lorene Hancock.

SISTERS FETE MOTHER ON ANNIVERSARY

Two charming sisters, Mrs. Clyde Elliott and Mrs. Burton Baird, gave a delightful surprise birthday party Saturday in the home of Mrs. Baird, 318 West Santa Clara street, complimenting their mother, Mrs. C. G. Seamaris.

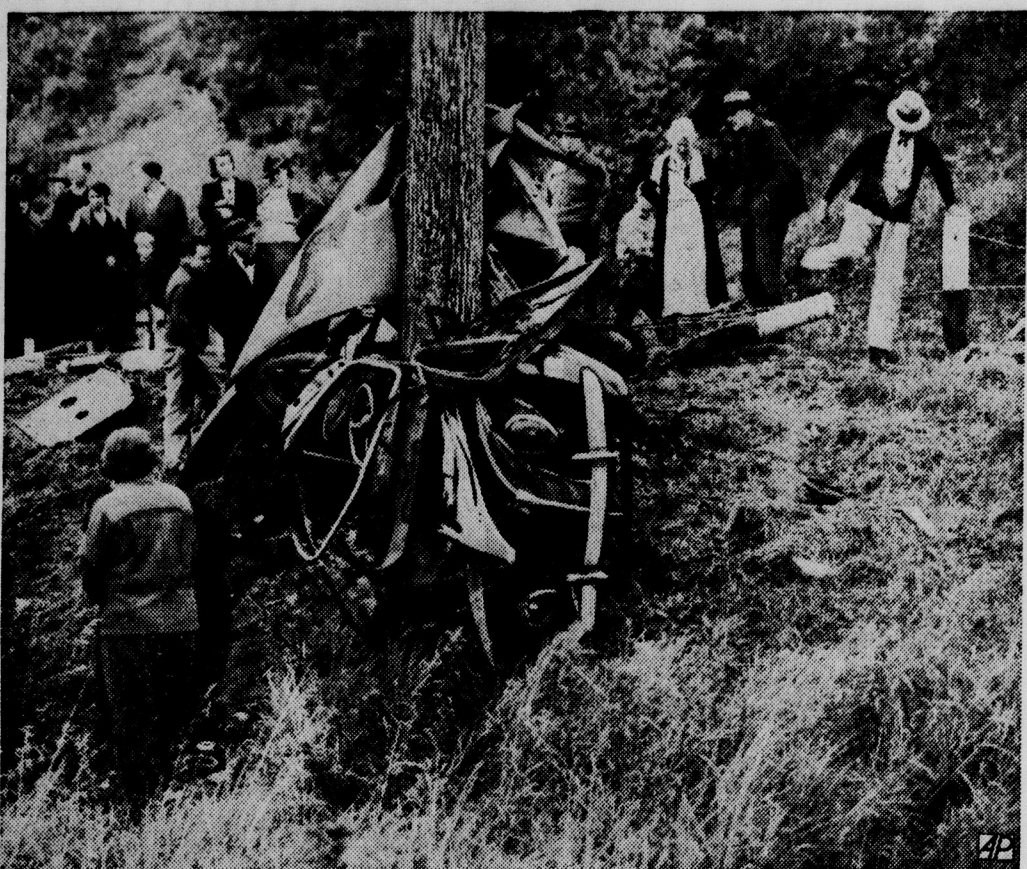

The affair was held in the lovely garden, with tables set for a game of Chinese checkers. Later in the afternoon refreshments were served on trays, and at that time gifts and flowers were showered on the honoree.

Present to compliment the guest of honor were Mrs. Bert Miles, Mrs. B. B. Seamans, Mrs. F. M. Robinson, Mrs. V. M. McQuillan, Mrs. C. W. Rairdon, Mrs. A. Anderson, Mrs. M. Morrison, and Mrs. Otis Morrison.

TO THIS SHIP England's Elizabeth has lent her royal name, and when the "Queen Elizabeth" is christened at Clydebank the wife of King George will preside. The Elizabeth is 1,030 feet long—10 feet longer than the Queen Mary. She'll have 14 decks, gross tonnage of 85,000.

IN THE ARMY NOW, this new Garland semi-automatic rifle being adopted by the U. S. army is examined by Col. A. B. Johnson, ordnance officer. In contrast with the model 30 Springfield, which has 96 parts and uses five-cartridge clip, this gun has 59 parts and uses a clip of eight cartridges. The colonel shows how the eight-cartridge clip fits into place.

DESIGNED FOR TRANSATLANTIC SERVICE, England's 2400-horsepower "Albatross" cracked in two in final 200-mile-per-hour test with equivalent of 22 passengers aboard. No one was injured.

DETROIT WENT ON A GOLD STANDARD when Count Theo Rossi, Italian sportsman, won the Gold Cup race with his curious hump-backed red and black "Alagi," and Dan Foster (left) and Dan Arena (center) took second place honors with their golden-hulled "Miss Golden Gate." The traditional speedboat classic was run in three 30-mile heats at Detroit.

CANDIDATE for post as national commander of the American Legion, Stephen F. Chadwick (above), an attorney from Seattle, reportedly has a heavy backing in election battle at the legion convention, scheduled to open soon at Los Angeles, Cal.

ORCHARDISTS WARNED COUNTY'S NEW SMUDGE LAW IS IN FORCE

If you have an orchard heater this winter, and use it, and it emits smoke too dense for comfort and security of your neighbors, you can be fined $500 or jailed for six months, or get both a fine and incarceration.

That handicap was added to the growers today, since a new county law, passed Dec. 7, 1937, went into effect for the coming winter. It is known as ordinance No. 377, the anti-smudge law, or the no-smoke law.

Under its terms, heaters which belch forth "unconsumed solid carbonaceous matter at a rate in excess of one gram per minute" are illegal. And can get their grower-owners into plenty of difficulty, providing the county can find a way to measure the density of that smoke and then find out where it comes from.

County Clerk B. J. Smith said that copies of the law may be had by calling at his office. It is very short, containing only four sections, but none of which tells how the law will be enforced.

When it was passed, only Willard Smith of Orange, chairman of the board, objected. He said it was too vague, would be a hardship to growers, and could not be enforced.

WALNUT CHIEF TALKS FRIDAY

A. W. Christie, field manager for the California Walnut Growers' association and past president for the California Avocado association, will be speaker at a meeting of Orange county avocado growers at farm bureau hall 6:30 p. m. Friday.

Christie will present a travelogue and color movies of the West Indies and the tropics of Dutch Guiana. There will be a discussion of avocado department plans for the coming year, including variety survey, field demonstrations and department meetings.

H. H. Gardner, chairman of the department, will preside.

TESTS TO FILL STATE POSTS

The state personnel board will hold four civil service examinations in the state building at Los Angeles Friday and Saturday to obtain qualified clerical workers from Orange and Los Angeles counties who will accept temporary jobs with the state.

Tests are being given in Los Angeles in order to secure eligibles to work in Los Angeles and surrounding cities. Salaries for the positions to be filled are $110 a month for assistant cashier clerk, $100 a month for calculating machine operator and intermediate clerk, and $50 a month for junior clerk.

Applications to take the tests must be filed at the state building Friday morning.

Bandit Gives 5c For Police Call

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—The robber who held up a service station at Melrose and Cole avenues was different in one respect from the usual run of robbers.

He didn't tell Jack West, the operator, to stay away from the telephone. Instead, he gave West a nickel. "You can use this to call the police," he said.

Flower Show Breaks Attendance, Display Records

KIWANIS CUP PRESENTED TO TUSTIN WOMAN

By BETTY GUILD
Highlight of the third annual Orange County Flower show which closed its doors last night with a record attendance and uncontested superiority over any such previous displays of floral lavishness, was awarding of the Santa Ana Kiwanis club silver loving cup to Mrs. O. W. Pafford of Tustin.

The most coveted trophy of the show was awarded this year for the best display of undisseminated dahlia seedlings, a new variety introduced for the first time at the show.

The Orange Woman's club received the sweepstakes silver cup offered the garden club whose membership entries totaled the most points, and Mrs. C. M. Deakins, Newport Beach, won a similar award for the best arrangement of flowers, presented by the Orange Lions club.

A total of 1025 entries in 12 classifications was recorded, according to Mrs. Fred H. Alden, general chairman. Special prizes were awarded Mrs. J. S. Arnold for a display of Hawaiian hibiscus, and Mrs. Charles Bustamante of Anaheim for her display of a huge narrow-mouthed bottle in which was a complete miniature growing garden.

Announcement of prize-winners was made last night by Fred Alden, with Ross Paul serving as announcer Saturday night.

List of winners in project exhibits follows:

75th Anniversary Of Marriage Feted By L. A. Couple

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Say the Jacob Eppmans of marriage: "It's a little thought and consideration for each other. That's how to keep happy."

The Eppmans should know. They were married 75 years ago. Children, grandchildren and great grandchildren helped them celebrate the event Sunday. They were married in Poland.

DEMOCRATS AT L. A. MEET

Led by Senator Harry C. Westover and Assemblyman Clyde Watson, a group of Orange county Democrats attended last Saturday night in Los Angeles, a pre-Democratic state convention conference. Senator Culbert Olson, Democratic nominee for governor; Sheridan Downey, Democratic nominee for U. S. senator, and Ellis Patterson, Democratic nominee for lieutenant governor, were the main speakers.

Key-note of the meeting was expression of party harmony.

Those who attended the meeting, besides Westover and Watson, were B. Z. McKinney, Chester Dale, Col. Walter Lowe, Mr. and Mrs. Olson, Walter Adkinson, Guy Richards and Maxwell Burke.

Orange county will be well represented at the state convention and meeting of the Democratic state central committee at Sacramento Thursday and Friday.

Among those who will attend the state meetings are Westover, Watson, Mrs. Loyal King, Mrs. Claudia Warswick, Chester Dale and Wayne Harrison.

'HANDYMAN' OF KINGS DIES

LONDON. (AP)—Prince Arthur of Connaught, a first cousin to King George VI and son and heir to the 88-year-old Duke of Connaught, died in his sleep today after ten months of poor health. He was 55.

Known as the "handyman of the royal family," he had carried out numerous state missions for his uncle, Edward VII; was personal aide de camp to four kings, Edward VII, George V, Edward VIII and George VI; was one of four counsellors of state, in the absence of King George VI in 1911-12, and had served as governor-general of South Africa.

Three times it was reported European countries planned to offer him a crown—Serbia, before the World War; Greece, and Yugoslavia.

3 KILLED ON SOUTH'S ROADS

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Traffic accidents claimed three lives in California Sunday.

Twenty-one-year-old Alice Pickering of Los Angeles died as the result of injuries she suffered in an accident Saturday. Kenneth E. Paddock, 25, of Torrance, died of a skull fracture at the scene of the same crash.

Damasco Lopez, 56, and P. Ronalio, 60, both of Russell City, were killed when a travel truck driven by Lopez overturned near Alvarado.

They Looked Good

DANVILLE, Va. (AP)—Three succulent hams in a grocery store window looked tempting to a man prowler.

He smashed the window, snatched the hams and fled. He's September's April fool—they were dummies.

REV. BASH OF TULARE TAKES S. A. PULPIT

The Rev. Gerald Bash, of Tulare, Calif., will succeed Rev. Walter Scott Buchanan, as pastor of the First Christian church of this city. Announcement to this effect was made through the official board to the congregation Sunday morning, which ratified the action of the board.

It is expected that the newly chosen minister will begin his work here the early part of December, at which time Rev. Buchanan will close a ten-year pastorate with the Santa Ana church.

Rev. Bash is a graduate of the University of Oregon and Eugene Bible school. He is married and has one daughter.

A rather unusual incident in connection with the decision is that the new minister's father, Rev. A. S. Bash, is pastor of the Orange Avenue Christian church of Santa Ana.

GIRL SCOUTS SET MEETINGS

After a summer of camping and vacations the following Girl Scout troops and packs today announced their first fall meetings:

Troop ten: Sept. 17, 2 p. m., Delhi Center.

Troop eleven: Sept. 12, 7 p. m., 606 North Parton.

The Girl Scout office and little house are located at 606 North Parton.

SCHOOL FIRE OPENING DAY

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Summer vacation ended today for Southern California children but there were no classes at the Ramona elementary school in Norwalk.

The building was destroyed by fire this morning. Edward Mayhew and Edward J. Cox, sheriff's deputies, said they found dry grass stuffed in several vents of the building, many burned matches and footprints in the spot where the fire is believed to have started.

The officers said they would question children today in an effort to determine definitely if the fire was incendiary.

Police News

Minor cuts on the face were sustained by Dave Jones, route 1, box 199, Anaheim, in an automobile accident at 17th and Main streets in Santa Ana last night.

Jones was a passenger in a car driven by Carl Ihara, Anaheim, involved in a collision with a car driven by James Fyles, 504 Fruit street, Santa Ana.

A prowler entered the V. L. Mottry residence, 707 South Van Ness streets, late last night, and took $250 in cash.

An automobile reported stolen from Victor Schiro, 1843 Daly street, Los Angeles, Saturday has been recovered by the California Highway Patrol.

Leon Arney, 2546 Elden street, Costa Mesa, reported the theft of his bicycle, valued at $20, from the Broadway theater here last night.

Billie F. Meador, 1107 West First street, was involved in an accident with a car registered to Guy F. McIntosh, 424 East Pine street, at the intersection of Second and Lacy streets yesterday, but escaped without injury.

Two Santa Ana minors were reprimanded by police for removing an automobile from the used car lot of John Graham, 1801 West Fifth street, yesterday without the owner's consent.

Clings to Boat for 72 Hours

Holger Nelson, 19, of Redwood City, Calif., was rescued from San Francisco bay by coast guardsmen when he was found clinging to an overturned sailboat. The youth had hung on for 72 hours, and had seen his four companions loosen their grip and slide to death in the water. Nelson is shown in an Oakland, Calif., hospital with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Nelson.

MODERN MERCHANDISING HELD CITRUS MARKETING SOLUTION

An industry of such importance as Valencia orange growing, naturally creates a high rate of interest in this county when its destiny is involved.

For that reason The Santa Ana Journal several weeks ago opened its columns as a public forum for the discussion of causes and remedies for the present status of the industry, which at present is not fully defined.

The journal believes the subject is of such importance to Orange county that the article in "Citrus Leaves" is reproduced in sections, and will appear in three installments. The first follows herewith.

Under the title "Where Do We Go From Here," Perrin C. Miller, executive vice-president of Albert Miller and Company, carlot potato distributors, Chicago, in the July 30 issue of the Pacific Coast Packager, gives a car lot appraisal of what a definite, constructive program of modern merchandising might be expected to accomplish in the fresh fruit and vegetable industry in the United States.

"To those who feel that the fresh fruit and vegetable industry fully enjoys a state of economic health, these lines will have little appeal," the story begins. "To those who believe that it is a hopeless state of chaotic functioning, these words will offer little hope. But to those who think there is a definite weakness in the present marketing system, and that something can be done about it, a fundamental change of viewpoint may be worth consideration."

He reviews these viewpoints briefly, and indicates that they are not necessarily millstones about the neck of the industry, nor that their revisions or removals might result in the expected improvement.

Transportation problems and freight rates; the coming of the chain stores; the thought advanced by some that advertising merely in itself is the cure-all; limitation of production by legislation; the spectre of frost-damaged crops—these, he interjects, might perhaps be studied by the fresh fruit and vegetable groups in details of merchandising—all are touched upon.

And then he finds the real point of significance, in comparing the industry problems of today with those which faced the industry concerns 25 or 30 years ago. His article continues:

"We went through a period in this country (particularly the last half of the nineteenth century) when the primary concern of most corporations was to produce goods and more goods. The selling job was secondary. Hence there developed executives who were production-minded, factory-minded, in fact, anything but sales-minded. (Continued on Page 9, Col. 4)

DELEGATION TO MAKE PROTEST TO COUNCIL

The proposal to double the minimum water rate, and thus eliminate a 21-cent boost in the city's new tax rate, is due to provide a major battle tonight at a special meeting of the city council.

An authoritative report said today that major opposition would center in a delegation of citizens due to call on the council tonight for an explanation of what has been termed an "injustice to the little fellow" whose water bill would double for the six months' period of the increased rate.

The scrap within the council circle itself may be more one-sided, however. Thus far, only Councilman Joe Smith has voiced disapproval of the projected plan, which would boost from $1 to $2 the minimum water rate for six months, to raise $50,000 or more deemed to be necessary for this city's obligation in replacing the outfall sewer district line.

Mayor Fred C. Rowland was absent at last Monday night's council meeting when the matter was brought up for vote. At that time, the water rate boost proposal got 3-to-1 vote, with only Smith in opposition. Since it needed a four-fifths vote, the special meeting tonight will see Mayor Rowland holding the balance of power.

Mayor Rowland has declined to indicate his vote.

WISCRACKERS STEAL $4000

HOLLYWOOD. (AP)—Two wise-cracking young men, one of them armed with two .45 caliber revolvers, held up the manager of the Hollywood Recreation center early today and escaped with $4,000.

Harry Fox, manager of the sports center where many film personages gather to bowl, was counting the week-end receipts when the pair walked into a back room. While they were putting the money into a hand bag, bartender L. H. Bronston walked in with a tray of money. He was relieved of its contents. In a few seconds, another bartender, Lynn Chapman, came in. He was forced to empty his pockets.

The pair, who jested throughout the proceedings, then got a handful of money out of the opened safe. As they departed, one of them said:

"Thanks for help, boys."

DON-PASADENA BATTLE OF LAST YEAR IS RECALLED

Pleasant memories of last year's opener with the same opponent are recalled, as our Santa Ana Dons prepare to invade the historic Rose Bowl Friday night to declare football war on Pasadena.

If you recall, our Dons looked awfully ragged in that first half at the Municipal bowl last September, allowed Pasadena a 6-0 lead, and appeared headed for defeat. But a "pep" talk—or something—between halves snapped the Dons out of it, and they came back in the final two quarters to engineer two touchdowns and win, 12 to 6.

That victory was followed by other wins over the Stanford Frosh, 12-7, in Palo Alto; Santa Monica, 32-0; Chaffey, 27-0; Glendale, 31-0; Pomona, 14-0; Riverside, 21-6; Citrus, 44-6; Fullerton, 20-0; and Salinas, 19-0, with those 7-7 and 6-6 deadlocks with San Bernardino's co-champions also playing an important part of the thrilling season.

From all indications, the Dons may look ragged in the first two quarters of Friday night's game until they get their bearings. They will have had few drills, and should not be expected to play four quarters of good football their first time out.

Y. M. C. A. BASKETBALL LEAGUE MAY EXPAND
Plans for another basketball season will be formulated in a meeting at the Santa Ana Y. M. C. A. at 7:30 p. m. Thursday. It was announced by Quentin Matzen, committee chairman.

Matzen has called a meeting of representatives of all teams which have played in the past. There is a possibility the league membership will be increased this year.

The Patterson Dairy and Barr Lumber company teams have been working out in the "Y" gymnasium. Interest is reported keen, and indications point to a record season.

PIRATES WILL RETURN TO SAN BERNARDINO

Southern California is a good place to train, after all. That's what President William E. Benswanger of Pittsburgh has decided. When his Pirates were struggling down in fifth place, he looked over Florida for a possible new training camp site for next season. Now that his team is leading the National league, Benswanger has decided his San Bernardino training camp should be retained their next season. The Pirates definitely will return to Southern California, and probably will play at least one exhibition at Amerigo park, Fullerton.

Paul Dean of Cards Hurls 6-4 Victory Over Pirates As Cubs Gain in N. L. Race

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR.

Associated Press Sports Writer

Frankie Frisch couldn't get the St. Louis Cardinals into the close National league race this season, even though they have been playing at least as well as any of the contenders during recent weeks, and as a result he's looking for a new job and the Cards for a new manager.

And, by coincidence, the man who might have made Frankie a hero against this year, Paul Dean, picked the day Frisch was released to make his successful comeback on the mound. Paul defeated Pittsburgh's league leading Pirates 6-4, yesterday.

Frisch, Cardinal manager since the middle of the 1933 campaign, was handed his release before yesterday's game because, President Sam Breadon explained, "a change in managers of club is necessary for 1939." Coach Mike Gonzales will handle the club the rest of the season. Frankie later explained he and Breadon couldn't agree on a 1939 salary.

Right afterward, the younger of the famous Dean brothers, who has been recovering from a sore arm by pitching a lot of games in the Texas league, returned to hurl his way out of a couple of tight spots and win from Pittsburgh. He gave 12 hits, but showed a lot of his old time. Lou Gehrig, who Mize's circuit clout put the Cards into the lead.

While the Cards couldn't move out of sixth place, the defeat reduced Pittsburgh's lead to 3½ games over the Chicago Cubs, who broke a second place deadlock with Cincinnati by beating the Reds, 2-0, behind Bill Lee's fourth-inning fling. The New York Giants also were whitewashed, 3-0, getting only seven hits off Brooklyn's Luke Hamlin.

Here's how the race stood today:

Team	W.	L.	Pct.
Pittsburgh	77	54	.588
Chicago	75	59	.560
Cincinnati	74	60	.552
New York	73	61	.545

Hank Greenberg again eclipsed the pennant "race" in the American league as he belted his 48th and 49th home runs while Detroit's Tigers took a doubleheader from Chicago, 10-1, and 5-3. These two clouts left him one behind the place Babe Ruth set when he made his record total of 60 in 1927. Rudy York smacked his 33rd to win the second game.

The Cardinals overshadowed the New York Yankees' 6-3 defeat by Washington as young Joe Krauskas finally combined control with his speed and limited the champions to seven hits. Boston's Red Sox hammered out 19 hits and a 12-run victory over the Athletics and took second place, 15 games behind the Yanks. New York still needs seven games to clinch the pennant.

Cleveland skidded into third place by splitting a doubleheader with St. Louis, winning the opener, 6-2, when Bob Feller pitched a five-hitter for his 15th win of the year, then losing, 4-3, as Russ Van Atta bested Mel Harder. The Phillies and Boston Bees divided yesterday's other twin bill. Philadelphia's Glavin won the first game, 11-2, and Boston the second, 3-2.

FAIR HILL, Md.—Ad Lib, 10-1 shot owned by S. A. W. Baltazzi, wins fifth Foxcatcher National steeplechase and $13,100.

Lionettes Enter Softball Finals

ORANGE GIRLS ELIMINATE YOUNG'S, 3-1

Orange's Lionettes enter the finals of The Examiner softball tournament against one of their most bitter rivals, Columbia Pictures, at 9 o'clock tonight at Wrigley field, Avalon and 44th streets, Los Angeles.

Preceding the girls' championship tussle will be the men's finals between Union 76 of Long Beach and Commerce Finance company at 7:30 o'clock.

ELIMINATE FOUR TEAMS

Unsuccessful in last year's finals against Payne-Heat, the Lionettes this season fought their way through four tournament teams, clinching their drive with a semi-final victory over Young's Market, 3 to 1, in Hollywood last night.

Lois Terry and Bobbie Wakeham turned back Mode O'Day, 17-0, in the quarter-finals Saturday night. Until Young's Market scored in the sixth inning, the Lionettes ran their string of scoreless opponent innings to 26 frames. Orange scored 49 runs and 55 hits.

Respecting the ability of Pitcher Genevieve Beck of Columbia, which finished in a tie for third in the second half league standings, Manager Vic Baden will have Miss Terry on the mound for her second full game in a row.

Cordius Hamilton was the hitting star for Orange against Young's, getting two of the team's four hits and driving in the first run. Louise Hunt started the second when she was hit by a pitched ball and after which Kasu Oshiki and Bobbie Wakeham had fanned, Hamilton singled to left, scoring Hunt from second base.

MAST SCORES MILLER

Forster was given a "life" in the fifth when she was hit by a pitched ball and after two were out, Phoebe Miller lined one into rightfield, Fuller dropping the ball for a two-base error scoring Forster. Miller scored on Margaret Mast's single to left.

After pitching one-hit ball through the fifth, Terry walked Wanda Macha in the sixth and hit M. Robinson by a pitched ball. Racey forced Robinson, but Macha went to third and scored on a single to right. The game gave Orange the season's series, 7-6.

GOODMAN, OMAHA, FAVORED IN NATIONAL AMATEUR GOLF

OAKMONT, Pa. (AP)—One hundred and sixty seekers of fame, ranging in age and hope from 15 years to 54, ventured into golf's notorious "chamber of horrors" known as Oakmont, today in pursuit of the National amateur championship.

The week's struggle of chance, luck and skill, opening with two 18-hole qualifying rounds today and tomorrow, was led by Omaha's Johnny Goodman, now fat and 28, still rated as the man they must beat for the tall, solid gold championship trophy that has been won twice in a row only by Lawson Little since the immortal Bob Jones retired with his grand slam eight years ago.

Except for Charles Kocsis and the venerable Francis Ouimet, forced out because of business, America's entire Walker Cup team was in the show. And though title threats were so numerous any one of 20 could come through without the semblance of an upset, the strongest drive was expected from the Walker Cup line up which included besides Goodman, Charles Yates of Atlanta, British amateur champion, Freddie Haas, New Orleans; Johnny Fischer of Cincinnati, 1936 champion; Reynolds Smith, Dallas; Marvin "Bud" Ward, Olympia, Wash., and Ray Billows of Poughkeepsie, who emerged from a bad slump almost as soon as he took a practice safari over the difficult, 6981 yard championship layout.

Four other ex-champs were in the field—Chick Evans, Jess Sweetser, Dave Herron and C. Ross Somerville of Canada, regarded as the only serious threat from a foreign contingent of six that included, for the most part, international Sunday golfers. Somerville, always a tough man to get along with in this show, was playing his usual, close game and had plenty of supporters.

FAME IN FINLAND...
Hollywood is just "the old home town" to Helen Runo, Finnish motion picture star.
Strange as it seems, although she spent most of her life in the shadow of the world's largest movie studios in Southern California, Miss Runo traveled half way around the world to find fame and fortune as an actress!
Helen Runo—her real and Finnish name is Tuulikki Paananen—is an honor graduate of Hollywood High school, an institution located in the very midst of Hollywood's film factories. Yet under the very eyes of talent scouts she slipped away to Finland, where she has since starred in five Finnish feature films.
A distinguishing feature of Congregationalism is insistence on the fundamental autonomy of the local church.

Second Greatest Dam

Actual construction of the Shasta dam, second largest in the world, has begun. And a Central Valleys project that existed only on paper is well under way as work begins on this $35,939,450 job.

Whatever we think of the New Deal, it is something like a miracle to find that the federal government through its bureau of reclamation has finally committed itself to go through with an enterprise so vast that many doubted California would ever accomplish it.

Until the public works program of the Roosevelt administration, Central Valleys planners contemplated financing of the project by the state. And even when Washington made an initial appropriation there was serious doubt that it would shoulder the entire cost.

Yet, as our state engineers knew, there is no sounder project from a financial standpoint. Sales of water and power will reimburse the federal government for every dollar spent.

Shasta dam, says the bureau, will contain more than half again as much masonry as the Great Pyramid. And while that Egyptian wonder required the work of 10,000 men for a full generation, Shasta dam will be completed in five and one-half years.

Job-seekers should be warned to stay away. It will be two years before employment on the dam reaches its peak. And today there are more men already camped in and around Redding than there are jobs.

A Japanese cultural group will open offices in New York to give Americans an idea of what Japan has attained in culture. One of the exhibits in culture will not be photographs of the Chinese women and children who have been slain by bombs hundreds of miles behind the lines.

'Thirty Minutes Too Late'

"The British are always 30 minutes too late!"

That was a favorite saying of the late Franklin-Bouillon, for many years head of the foreign relations committee of the French Chamber of Deputies. What he meant was that always, in times of crisis, the government refuses to commit itself until the die is cast.

Then, the French statesman observed, she usually comes in, and on the right side, but too late to head off an otherwise avoidable war.

There is a good deal in what he said. Despite reports of sweeping concessions on the part of Czechoslovakia, discharge and punishment of those implicated in the frontier incidents, the news from Central Europe becomes more and more ominous every day. And still London hesitates.

U. S. ordnance officers scoff at reports of Germany's new mobile "Big Bertha." They also scoff at early dispatches during the World war that the Germans had a gun capable of shooting 75 miles. But the people of Paris, upon which the shells fell, didn't.

Our Important Friends

Buddy Ebsen and Judy Garland are going to be in the "Wizard of Oz!" Norma Shearer won't play Scarlett! Ronald Colman didn't elope, as rumored. Janet Gaynor in real seventh heaven, in love with Adrian. And so on and on.

And just why do we like to hear or read about the movie players? Well, it's just because we are better acquainted with them than we are with almost any other persons outside our own families. Don't we live with them through all kinds of screen adventures? Don't we know and like their little mannerisms and funnyisms?

They're our friends; that's why. And, by one of the oldest rules of civilization, that fact gives us the right to gossip about them and to be interested in everything they do.

Canada is delighted with Roosevelt's so-called "Monroe Doctrine" speech, but is slow about saying what she will do if Uncle Sam is attacked.

Dictator—1810 Style

Historians have rediscovered the words of Napoleon, the greatest Fascist of them all, on how the freedom of the press should be handled.

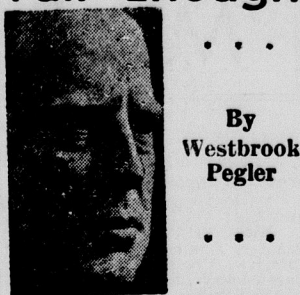

The words are particularly significant today, both in the light of the gagging of Europe's newspapers, and the similar attempt to be renewed at our own next congress. Napoleon wrote to Fouché, his propagandist:

"Repress the journals a little; make them print wholesome articles. Let them comprehend that there is now but one party, and that I shall never suffer the journals to say or do anything contrary to my interests."

Napoleon has been dead a century, but his words are as alive as the everyday talk of Mussolini and Hitler, who learned from Napoleon that the surest way to control a nation is to control its press.

Secretary Roper announces that national income shows an upward trend. Fine, if national outgo weren't so close behind.

Fair Enough

By Westbrook Pegler

NEW YORK — Whatever the outcome of the Jimmy Hines trial there will be a deflation of the tabloids estimates of the amount of money involved in the nickel and dime policy racket. It takes a hundred one-cent plays, twenty nickel plays or 10 dime plays to make a dollar's worth of business, and still the turnover in New York City alone was reckoned at $100,000,000 and even as high as half a billion dollars a year.

The testimony, however, has dealt with mere hundreds and thousands, and in the first serious presentation of actual evidence on a mysterious subject there has been no confirmation of the fantastic guesses which in the past were repeated so often that the public wearily half accepted them as truth.

A Dream Figure

It is well that this glimpse of reality has been afforded, because the people, encouraged by a few careless or glib writers and politicians, had come to believe that such business, if diverted to a public lottery, would be the answer to the taxpayer's prayer. The late Representative Edward A. Kenney, of New Jersey, made a political specialty of the advocacy of a federal lottery. He was glib with large, resounding figures, but size and not accuracy was his forte. He used to estimate that the annual take of sweepstakes, lotteries, pools and policy rackets in this country was from $3,000,000,000 to $6,000,000,000. This dream figure was very tempting, but it had no relation to the known facts.

The Irish hospitals sweep, the most attractive foreign lottery operating here, sells only $21,000,000 worth of tickets a year in the United States, and the total amount gambled on the grounds at all the horse and dog tracks in all the states where race-betting is openly permitted is only a little more than a quarter of a billion dollars a year.

In the Hines trial, dealing with the operations of a policy racket which has been touted as the greatest in the land, there is no mention of large amounts. Payments of $500 for political protection have even mentioned, and the scale of operations, even if the figures of the prosecution be accepted, was paltry by comparison with all previous thoughts on the subject.

He Was Kidding

In fact, there is no subject to which romantic writers address themselves in this country that has been embellished with such silly exaggerations. I find among my souvenirs a magazine article, ostensibly based on careful inquiry, in which a writer seriously credits the estimate of Dixie Davis that the policy racket of Dutch Schultz in New York handled $500,000,000 a year. It is true that Davis did toss off this figure, but he has recently admitted that he was just kidding. The figure is far less amazing than the ready credulity of any writer or reader who would accept it.

The press and public also permit themselves to be misled by reports of seizures of lottery tickets, counterfeit or authentic, of vast face value. If tickets with a face value of $600,000 or $2,000,000 are seized, the figure is meaningless. There is no indication that any such amount would have been sold.

The policy game is absolutely legal in Great Britain and operates 36 weeks a year, stimulated by newspaper advertisements of the most enticing kind. Like the American policy racket, which operates under cover—a great handicap—it is a penny-ante business. With all its freedom the British policy gamble, dealing in such small stakes, handles much less than the American race tracks. The Glasgow Herald, after a careful inquiry, estimated the total British policy turnover at from $150,000,000 to $200,000,000 in a season of 36 weeks.

VISION

John Wanamaker, the great merchant whose vision went far beyond the world of mere material things, was once asked to invest in an expedition to recover from distant seas the treasures of sunken ships which had lain there many centuries.

"Gentlemen," he replied, "let me tell you of a better expedition than this, right here. Near your own feet lie treasures beyond measure; you can have them all by diligent study.

"Let us not be content to mine the most coal, to make the largest locomotives, to weave the largest quantity of carpets; but, amid the sounds of the pick, the blows of the hammer, the rattle of the looms, and the roar of the machinery, take care that the immortal mechanism of God's hand—the mind—is still full-trained for the highest and noblest service."

The Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON. — Newsman who thronged the president's press conference last week were astonished at the heat he displayed in criticizing Detroit newspapers for the story that he had abandoned his trip to dedicate the International bridge because of Michigan politics. Digs at the press are not unusual from the president, but generally they are good natured.

This one was quite different. He spoke with undisguised indignation.

What the newsmen didn't know was that he was not only spanking the Detroit papers but someone else—a member of his own family. The inside story of the incident illustrates the circuitous way in which Roosevelt sometimes operates.

The member of his family he was booting was G. Hall Roosevelt, brother of Mrs. Roosevelt.

Hall Roosevelt, connected with certain anti-New Deal business interests, has been severely trying to harpoon the president's close friend and ardent disciple, Gov. Frank Murphy.

Early last month, before the Michigan state democratic convention, Hall Roosevelt tried to supplant Murphy with State Highway Commissioner Murray D. Van Waggoner as the nominee for governor.

The scheme fell through because Van Waggoner's lieutenants told him he couldn't beat Murphy.

Since then Hall Roosevelt has continued his undercover opposition against New Dealer Murphy. The Detroit news story, implying that the president had dropped his dedication trip because he had become convinced that Murphy's chances for re-election were hopeless, appeared the day after Hall Roosevelt talked to Washington correspondents.

Whether rightfully or wrongfully, the president suspected his brother-in-law of planting the story and also of implying that he, Hall Roosevelt, was responsible for the change in the president's plans.

But he didn't call Hall in and bawl him out. Instead the president denounced the story as a "deliberate distortion" and announced his intention to campaign vigorously for Murphy next month — thus demonstrating to Hall Roosevelt's friends and business superiors that he is wholly without influence at the White House.

Maverick Out

Representative Maury Maverick, dynamic Texas crusader who was defeated for renomination, has definitely decided not to run as an independent this fall.

Like Senator James Pope, Idaho New Dealer who also fell by the wayside and considered making another try as an independent, Maverick has concluded to take his medicine. His reasons, however, were different from Pope's.

Pope quit because of lack of money to finance another campaign, plus the inability of the White House to go to bat for him after Jim Farley's telegram congratulating Pope's successful rival and assuring him of national committee support.

For the president to back Pope after this declaration would have been interpreted as a slap at Farley. Roosevelt wasn't ready to do that, so Pope threw up the sponge.

Maverick had promises of financial backing and was keen to re-enter the race, but he was barred by an opinion from the Texas attorney general that his candidacy would be illegal. Law-

The Mailbag

Public opinion, or what somebody in office imagines to be public opinion, is our ruler. If public opinion is up and take notice. There is a definite need for outspoken talking and thinking on public matters. Honest, intelligent fair discussion of our problems is immensely useful. So that every citizen may have his say and contribute to the formation of public opinion, The Journal invites letters to the Mailbag. Please limit communications to 350 words. The editor reserves the right to shorten all letters in excess of that length.

$30 PLAN DEFENDED

To the Editor: C. J. S. Williamson's tirade against the "$30 every Thursday plan," as published in The Journal Sept. 8, must have been an outburst of madness and not a sane line of reasoning.

He seems to think that all the real money now circulating in the state would disappear if and when $30 a week state warrants issued by the state of California make their appearance in the marts of trade, and that every public agency in the state would cease to operate within 90 days thereafter.

Mr. Williamson demonstrated his madness in the presence of Santa Ana Civitan club and the read public as well by calling the thousands of honest toilers who are sponsoring the plan racketeers.

Such men as Mr. Williamson would lead a revolution by force against a majority, stir up hatred, discord and strife rather than encourage harmony, cooperation and peace. Shakespeare said such a "man is fit for treason, stragems and spoils, let no man trust him."

Why not try the plan, and if it will not work, then try another one? All thinking people know now that some change has to be made to end this permanent depression. Why not try putting all the unemployed to producing their own food, clothing and shelter? Don't you think that would help solve the difficult problems before us?

ACE JOB.

What are the qualities that make for success? Superior knowledge? Yes, sometimes; but more frequently it is flaming enthusiasm backed up by horse-sense and persistence.

Let me illustrate by telling you the story of a man I have known for years. He is one of the most famous aviators in America and one of the luckiest husbands I know, for he is married to a beautiful woman with infinite charm.

His name is Alexander de Seversky. Born in Russia. His father owned airplanes in Russia, and the lad had grown up virtually in a cockpit. By the time he was 15, he had built two airplanes which would actually fly.

Suddenly the World war was on. But that was all right with him. It would give him a chance to show what a fighting aviator he was.

The day came for him to go up for his first flight. His big moment. He would make his country proud of him.

He went up . . . so did an anti-aircraft shell from the enemy's gun. The shell struck his airplane and hurtled it down into the Gulf of Riga. A Russian battleship steamed toward the floating wreckage. Blood everywhere. But someone's hand moved, gesturing for aid. A rowboat was lowered. A young man was lifted with but one leg. The other shot off!

The lad was sent to a military hospital where he remained many long months. When he came out—what was left of him—they asked him what he wanted to do. "I want to fly," he said promptly and decisively.

What? Flying with only one leg? Ridiculous!

So they gave him a job on the ground in the Petrograd district. One day when no one was looking, he hobbled out to an airplane, strapped his good leg to a rudder-bar—and up he went!

His superiors were shocked. And they were mad. They would teach him a lesson. Well, it took a pardon from Czar Nicholas himself to square things.

But Alexander de Seversky's enthusiasm never waned. In 1918 he came to this country and got into our air service. He had ideas and he had enthusiasm. One of his ideas concerned a bomb-sight. That is, a method for aiming a bomb at a target. He worked it out. Our government paid him $50,000 for it.

He invented skills for flying boats. He proposed re-fueling in the air. It worked.

He became a United States citizen and a major in the United States air corps specialist reserve.

He broke the world's speed record for amphibian planes. (230.03 miles per hour.)

He now designs, builds and flies his own plane, and is the only airplane manufacturer who does. At Farmingdale, Long Island, he has 85 basic trainer planes now under construction.

He employs 1200 men. He lost a leg, but he didn't lose his enthusiasm. When it comes to getting ahead, which is the more important?

There's no question about it—a city has more advantages for the business man than a small town, but that don't mean that the city man is any smarter than his country cousin. Some years ago, an advertising man in a city made himself famous and rich because he suddenly discovered that it pays to advertise and a business should keep its name before the public all the time.

Forty years before that, the editor of the Press Argus, down home, tried to get John Hink to advertise his furniture store and John Hink says, "I don't have'ta advertise it—I've been here 30 years, and everybody knows I'm in business."
